We invite you to join The Windham World Affairs Council

What is the Windham World Affairs Council?

The Windham World Affairs Council is an all-volunteer, non-partisan, non-profit, educational organization. We are an active member of the World Affairs Councils of America (WACA), the largest foreign affairs organization in the country with over 86,000 members and 22 associated organizations. We'd be pleased to have you join us.

What do we do?

Our mission is to inform and educate the community in all aspects of current issues, trends and problems in foreign relations. We sponsor a lecture series in the fall and another in the spring. Our winter program, formatted differently, usually provides small group settings for discussions. These activities attract 600-800 attendees per year. They are free and open to the public. In addition, we sponsor an annual Academic World Quest competition. Six high schools in the area participate in a quiz program that requires extensive study of foreign affairs. We send the winning team from our local competition to Washington, D.C. for the national Academic World Quest.

We encourage you to become a member of the Windham World Affairs Council.

As a member you will receive personal notification of each of our activities and a copy of our quarterly newsletter. Also, you are offered discounts on periodicals that might be of interest to you such as The Economist and Foreign Affairs Quarterly. Mostly, though, becoming a member enables you to join with us in a dialogue around world affairs and to support other Council projects.

How can you become a member?
